

PAUL G. GIORDANO, JR.

Taxes—in business, they're an unavoidable part of your life. With the ever-changing tax rules and regulations, you as a business owner or entrepreneur, need expert advice in the areas of compliance, planning and consultation—the kind of advice that Paul Giordano, a tax expert, can give you.

Paul has more than 15 years experience serving clients in complex tax situations. He has gained a solid reputation as a master in assessing a client's tax position from the federal, state or multi-state point of view. His knowledge and experience in serving clients in a diversified group of industries have given him a special expertise in strategizing and controlling taxes for his clients.

Paul knows that good planning is the key. By consulting with a client to understand the company and its taxes, he is able to quickly evaluate the situation and give valuable advice to the client to ensure every possible tax benefit available.

At St. Clair CPAs. Paul directs a large staff of tax professionals who are totally familiar with today's multi-jurisdictional tax obligations. Through his guidance, they develop even more practical experience by using a computerized research system to give them current information, providing clients with the proper tax support so their companies can achieve the most advantageous tax positions.

Paul has ambitious goals for his clients: to become their closest advisor in handling tax situations and to assist them by interpreting tax laws in order to give them optimum tax saving.

Paul has a Masters of Science Degree in Taxation from Widener University and a Bachelor of Science Degree in Accounting from Temple University. He is married and has one child. Paul and his family live in Bensalem, Pennsylvania.
